911 Remembered

It's been 10 years since all of our lives as Americans changed. We woke up and went off to work, dropped our kids off to school and began our day. When we realized that we were under attack, we all froze in silence as we watched the television and listened to the radio. Just remembering that day still devastates so many of our fellow Americans and has impacted our sense of security ever since. I will never get the images out of my head when the second plane hit the Twin Towers. The shearing pain watching the movie Flight 93 still haunts me to this day.

We had many hero's that day that lost their lives helping others and many whose lives will never ever be the same as a result. As a nation we came together and we hugged tighter and learned to become better citizens of this great country. We recently got Osama Bin Laden and we did it for those that lost their lives that September morning and for all those that died in war since.

Americans are resilient people and we have overcome this tragedy through determination and hard work, like we always have with every other difficulty. We have watched the world reject brutal dictators and cast them out of power recently. We have changed the world and what the world knows about freedom. It doesn't come cheap but it does come.

This month, spend a little more time with those you love. Reach out to our veterans groups and see where you can help. Look after your neighbors, let them know you care and we are an American family. We have opportunities every day to make a difference in our local community and we should.

From Keri's Desk

Well summer is almost over but, hurricane season is not. We just missed Hurricane Irene and the Atlantic Ocean is still whipping up storms as I write. One thing I learned lately from the weather man is he is only certain that he is not certain. We have so little time to prepare for a hurricane once one is off our coast and there are so many people here that are not from Florida.

Hurricanes can spring up in the Caribbean almost over night and if we are not paying close attention, we don't get notice until there is very little time to get prepared properly. Most of us natives tend to think we are ready all the time and do not realize that there are technological ways to minimize our damages should a hurricane hit us.

I attend many functions and events with the local Chambers of Commerce on the Treasure Coast trying to educate everyone about the services that we offer at Archives Management Centers. We recently restructured our website to allow more interactive service and a complete listing of our newest innovative solutions for you and your businesses. We have tailored services for the individual to allow everyone in our community to be able to take advantage of the latest technology at a reasonable price.

Please visit our website www.archives-amc.com and if you have any questions about any of our solutions, please feel free to contact me. It is my passion to see that all your documents are safe, whether for your business or your personal paperwork. Our digital imaging packages start at $35 for 250 pages. We also do oversized imaging for $3.00 a page and our staff is fast, friendly and on time, every time. Call me if you have questions, 772-834-8717

Sincerely,
Keri West
